

Revocation of Consent for Special Education and Related Services

Student: Jesse's Demo
School District: Demo District
Parents: Jesse LaVere

Date of Birth: 12/10/2009
School Building: Demo Agency

This document enables the parent(s)/guardian(s) to revoke consent to special education and related services in writing. By revoking consent in writing, I understand that the Demo District:

1. May not continue to provide special education and related services to the student, but must provide prior written notice before ceasing the provision of special education and related services.
 2. May not seek to use consent override procedures such as mediation or due process to obtain agreement or a ruling that services may be provided to the student.
 3. Will not be considered to be in violation of the requirement to make free appropriate public education (FAPE) available to the student because of the failure to provide the student with further special education and related services.
 4. Is not required to convene an Individualized Education Program (IEP) Team meeting or develop an IEP for the student for further provision of special education and related services.
 5. Is not required to amend the student's education records to remove any references to the student's receipt of special education and related services because of the revocation of consent.
- ☐ I REVOKE my consent for my child to continue to receive special education and related services.

Dear Parent/Guardian:

On __/__/__, you completed a Revocation of Consent for Special Education and Related Services document, advising the Papillion-La Vista School District that it was your intent to revoke consent for the continued provision of special education and related services to your child.

The District is required by federal law, Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA), and its regulations to provide prior written notice before ceasing the provision of special education and related services. The purpose of this Prior Written Notice is to provide you, the parent/guardian with information to make an informed decision when considering the written revocation of consent for special education and related services and provide information regarding the implications of this decision.

Based upon receipt of your revocation of consent, the district will discontinue all special education and related services for your child effective upon the issue date of this letter. As this time, the services and education supports agreed to in your child's most current Individual Education Program (IEP) will no longer be available to your child. State and federal regulations provide protections and procedural safeguards for parents of students with disabilities; a statement of those protections and procedural safeguards (Parental Rights in Special Education) is enclosed with this Prior Written Notice. By your revocation of consent, your child will no longer be entitled to the special education and related services and protections under the IDEA and relation provisions of the Nebraska Rule 51. Your child will be treated as a general education student in all aspects, including in the event of any disciplinary action. Your revocation of consent releases the district from liability for providing your child with a free appropriate public education (FAPE). If, at any time following the revocation, you wish to have your child considered for special education and related services, you may contact staff at your child's school with your request for evaluation.

A description of the action proposed by the district:

All special education services, related services and supplementary aids and services specified in the IEP of the student named above will cease effective upon the issue date of this letter documented above.

Explanation of why the action is proposed:

Consent for all special education services, related services and supplementary aids and services have been revoked per written parent request.

Options considered and why the options were rejected:

Description of the evaluation procedure, assessment, record or report used as a basis for the proposed or refused action:

Other factors relevant to the proposal:
